ANGLO-CHINESE CALENDAR MANUAL

PRICE $1.00.

Handbook of reference for the determination of Chinese Dates, during the period from 1860 to 1869; with comparative Tables of Annual and Mensual Designations &c., &c. Compiled by WILLIAM FREDEjuly2 RICK MAYERS, H.M.C.S.

Author's Preface. Most persons whose avocations or studies are connected even remotely with Chinese subjects are wont to confess the need of convenient manual of reference for the pur pose of determining dates according to either the European or the Chinese method of computation; and a system of comparison for the names attributed to years, months, and other periods is also frequent ly a desideratum with translators and readers of Chinese literature. The compiler of the following tables has-thought, accordingly, that their publication in convenient form may prove useful, although much yet remains to be done for the elabo. ration of comparative calendars, etc. that should leave nothing to be desired. With the exception of the Cyclical. Table of Years, and the Table of Solar Terms, both of which were originally compiled by Dr. Morrison, and afterwards republished with improvements in Williams' Commercial Guide, from which (with some alteration) they are now copied, the whole of the mat ter assembled in the following pages is for the first time made accessible to general reference.

OUR INTERPRETERS. WHILE His Excellency the Governor disability under which the Colony labours the want of capable interpreters. We do not allude to the Chinese who have, with more or less success, mustered the difficulties of English, but to the deficiency of educated Englishmen who have mustored sufficient Chinese. True we have four gentlemen at present in the Colony who fulfil this condition, but unfortunately for the Courts, though we are bound to admit fortunately for the departments they adoin, their acquaintance with the Chinese language has promoted them to important posts long before the period contemplated in lowing regulations published in the "Colonial Office List" regarding Hongkong cadetships :--

"With a view to supply the Civil Service in Hougkong with an efficient Staff of Interprefers, it is intended that a certain number of Cadetships shall be established, the holders of which are to devote themselves for a certain time after their arrival in the Colony to learning the language. As vacancies in the public service arise, gentlemen will be appointed to Cadetships, after a competitive examination by the Civil Service Commissioners (at a time and place to be fixed by them), from amongst Candidates nominated for this purpose by the Secretary of State for the Colonies. [Then follow the qualitications.

Each Cadet will receive a salary of £20 per annum, to commence from the day of leaving England. The cost of his passage, to Hongkong will be paid, and quarters teachers, and books will be provided for him at the public-expense while studying the language. For two years after the arrival of the Cadets in Hongkong, they shall; apply themselves especially to learn-ng Chinese. At the end of two years' study, or as soon afterwards as they shall be declared qualified by a Board of Competent Examiners, they will be appointed Government Interpreters, and be employed in such of the Departments as may require their services, at salaries of £400 per annum each, without other allowances. After two years' approved service as Interpreters, the salary, wil be increased to £500; and after three years ervice they will be considered eligible by the Secretary of State for promotion to the higher offices in the Civil Service of Hong-

It will thus be seen that after a minimum of five years' service the regulations provide that these gentlemen "will be considered eligible " for promotion to higher offices than that of "Interpreter," which they are presumed to have filled student time to one of those higher interpreters—with what success it is open to the public to judge. Now we are not about to quarrel with the fact that Messrs Denne, Tonnochy, Lister, trar General, and Secretary to the Governor, because it is assuredly necessary that the gentlemen occupying those posts should possess a knowledge of Chinese. appointments, and the necessary experience on their part, if wanting at first, is daily increasing. But we may be permitted to hope that the Cadets of the future will be required to fulfil the duties for which they are appointed, making their promotion dependent upon long service and proved capacity. More than that, we would advocate the appointment of much larger number of candidates to fulfil interpretorial duties than the three or four hitherto sent out at long intervals. It would of course be impossible to find promotion to higher offices for employes might have shown a much greater every one with anything like the rapidity of previous years. But two new regulations would at least ensure their being made available for Governmental pur-Poses. One enacting that every person appointed to a future vacancy in any Government department, (excepting, of course, the chiefs), should be acquainted with the Chinese language; and the other fixing a remunerative scale of pay,

SUMMARY JURISDICTION COURT. Before Hon. J. PAUNCEFOTE.

June 18, 1869.

The Court sat about eleven o'clock, and judgment was given in the cases of Cummins v. Mathews, ($110), and Bremen v.

Mr Sharp, on behalf of the plaintiffs, drew his Honor's attention to the fact that the solemn declaration of ownership entered Now it is not necessary to consider the grave, and there being no other head under into according to the terms of the Merchant civil remedy of an alien for a libel very which to class it his Lordship declared that Shipping Act, precluded any arrangement minutely. Mr Pollard contended at great it might be treated as a Libel; he did not say such as that alleged to have been entered into between Mr Howard, the bond fide An information in this Court for a libel owner, and Mr Williams, the registered His Honor said that it would not affect

It is in evi- sum equivalent to three months' wages, Plaintiffs were entitled to costs of attorney.

We have most of us heard the story of the man accused of sheepstealing who escaped punishment on the score of insanity, his legal adviser having suggested to him to reply ba-a, ba-a whonever spoken to; and how the legal adviser himself fell a victim the discosal of certain glass beads, and other equally valuable gifts amongst his children in the Customs' Service, that gentleman seems lately to have been leading a quiet life. Rumour, however, hints that this inactivity on the part of the ever restless Inspector General is not altogether of his own seeking, and that his visits to the Tsung-li Yamen, where his advice used to listened to with attention if not put into practice, are becoming, like angel's, few and far between. In fact that that pet offspring of his fertile imagination, the Burlingame mission, has been but too successful, and that Prince Kung, who a few years ago desired nothing so much as a hundred Harts to secure his power, now cries ba-a, ba-a to the only one left. Had Mr Hart's conduct towards his superiors been marked by loyalty, or had his treatment of his aub-employés been regulated any other feeling than that o caprice. we could have sympathised with him in his present fallen state. However we differed from him in questions of state policy, and however we deprecated his interference in political matters, we would readily have forgiven a man of genius, whose position in contact with the heads of the central government tempted had refused to give any assistance whatever him to aspire to greater things than being a mere Inspector over a department. We could moreover afford to remember that however selfish had been his objects, he had to a certain extent been the advocate of the introduction into China of improved appliances and means of communication. When we have said this we have, we believe, stated all that can be said in his favor, and while we cannot but look upon Mr Hart's present state of isolation as being to a great extent the result of the anti-progressive tendency of the present party in power, we must consider it as mainly brought about by his own incessant meddling in matters beyond the legitimate scope of his office. - S. C. & C. Gazette.

> THERE was a thoroughness about practical joking in the middle ages. When Pope Adrian died in 1523, the Roman people, who hated him, and despised him, determined to testify their pleasure at the event, They therefore adorned the door of his physician's house with garlands, adding this inscription :- " To the deliverer of his

(From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1868.) Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the receipt of a Bongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowon behalf of the Chinese Government; Li- ledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on thina and Japan, published. monthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, magners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says, a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this should be established and conducted with apparently successful vigour.

The publication is altogether a very interesting one, and wishing it every success, we commend it to the attention and support of our readers.

(From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868.) We acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the numbers for the current year of "Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not contined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the Foreigner, the appeal to be lodged within ental antiquities.
